

Ways of Knowing: Multiple Intelligences and Technology

Ways of Knowing: Multiple Intelligences and Technology is a rigorous ten week postgraduate professional course which brings together current research on the brain, instructional design, learning theory and technology to present a sound theoretical and practical framework for integrating technology into the curriculum.

The course is built to foster a community of online learners in which each student contributes his or her professional expertise and experience to help build new understandings. Emphasis is on participation in online class discussion and on the final course project.

Course Highlights:

Cutting Edge Topic
Blackboard Functionality
Weekly Live Office Hours
Small Class Size ~ 30 Class
Participants Maximum
Web-Based Resources
24/7 Course Access
Flexible Class Schedule
Make It and Take It Project
Priced for Educators
Accredited by California State
University at Fullerton

Course led by

Book Author

The course text is Walter's first book, Multiple Intelligences and Instructional Technology: A Manual for Every Mind (ISTE, 2002). Each week students will complete course readings, participate in online discussion based on those readings, and complete assignments which build towards a course project for the course: a ready-to-implement lesson, unit of project which integrates multiple intelligences theory and instructional technology into instruction.

The course is designed so that participants can earn 40 seat hours of professional development credit, or opt to earn three graduate credits through the California State University, Fullerton.

Course registration is $100.00. Upon successful completion of the course each participant will receive a certificate for 40 seat hours of classwork.

For an additional $270.00 ($90.00 per credit hour) course participants may also earn 3 graduate credits from the California State University at Fullerton.

Register online at

<http://surfaquarium.com/MI/Course/register.htm>

Learner Testimonials

"My first goal in asking to join this course was to just give myself the time to explore the area of MI in more depth. I have been an MI groupie for years, but felt that there was "more". And indeed there is. Thanks for a great opportunity, Walter. You have built an amazing course!"

-Ellen H.S. - Israel

"I think every teacher in America should take your course! It's that important!"

-Deb M. - Pennsylvania

"I have been blown away by the efficiency of the course and material covered. I cannot wait to read, learn and share with my colleagues when I return to school. Walter is awesome!"

-Sheryl G. - South Africa

"We here in Egypt admire your effort in conducting this course and we tell you "Keep going." My supervisors respect you very much. They say that you respect your learners, and you deserve all their respect. Your course benefits me a lot in my M.A. work, not only from the weekly readings but also from sharing with classmates. It is the first experience for me to take a course online and it has been a good and successful one."

Amira A. - Egypt

"This course is well organized, concise and to the point. Walter has a good online presence. Participants know he is there with them."

-Ellen P. - Nova Scotia

Graduate Credits through Cal State Fullerton

Ways of Knowing: Multiple Intelligences and Technology is an accredited postgraduate level course through the California State University at Fullerton. Course participants who apply for graduate credit and successfully complete the course requirements may receive 3 graduate semester credits.

Credits are $90.00 per hour for a total of $270.00 and must be paid directly to California State University at Fullerton, separately from the $100.00 course registration fee sent to Walter.

Course work includes weekly readings, assignments and reflections, online class discussion, and a final project. Upon successful completion of the course, you will receive a transcript from the California State University at Fullerton certifying your work.

To apply for graduate credits as part of your course registration, please submit a completed graduate credits form and payment to Faith Jennings:

CSUF Univ. Extended Ed., Rm T-1415
P.O. Box 6870
Fullerton, CA 92834
Fax: (714) 278-2088

A Surfaquarium Online Course

Walter's Credentials

Walter has been creating, teaching and leading, postgraduate professional development online since 1998. As a member of the first class of Guides trained for Connected University, he learned to cultivate online learning communities from the ground up, writing courses, leading classes, and becoming the lead trainer of all new faculty at Connected University. As the online institution grew, Walter was named a department chair, and he continued to teach and lead colleagues online.

As part of his certification to be Guide trainer, Walter attained certification as an adjunct for Pepperdine University, a pioneer in online learning for educators. In addition he has written courses for PBS Teacherline and presented at conferences and schools around the nation.

Walter's Online Resume:
<http://surfaquarium.com/resume.htm>

Email:
walter@surfaquarium.com

Fall 2004 Schedule:

Section 1: September 13 - November 19

Section 2: September 27 - December 3

Section 3: October 11 - December 17

Ways of Knowing: Multiple Intelligences and Technology

A Surfaquarium Online Course

Work with Walter and other like-minded educators in exploring and mastering the powerful possibilities for technology in your classroom!

Take the course for your own benefit, to earn seat hours towards certification, or for graduate credit hours through the University of California, Fullerton!

